

NOT CONE YET.

The "Heathen Chinese" Given a Breathing Spell.

The President Vetoes the Bill Restricting Chinese Immigration, and Probably Kills It.

The Pacific Slope Congressmen Very Angry, and the Republicans Generally Satisfied.

General Expression of Opinion on the Subject, and Other Congressional Matter.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—A veto of the anti-Chinese bill reached the senate at 1:20 p. m. The president says that he is fully persuaded that the bill is a violation of the treaty, and other remedies for the alleged evils should be found if he accepts the bill.

On an expression of opinion from congress that the immigration and residence of Chinese in this country are injurious to the people. In negotiating the second treaty the Chinese commissioner told China that he would not consent to the exclusion of all Chinese from the United States, and the United States commissioners agreed to substitute for the word "prohibit" the words "regulate," "limit" or "suspend." China then gave her views that classes of Chinese who enjoyed the provision of the Burlingame treaty were entitled to the privilege enjoyed by most nations. The system of personal prospects was undemocratic and hostile to our institutions. The bill also made provisions that the Chinese trade was valuable and of recent growth, and needed more liberal legislation. On motion of Mr. Farley the message was laid on the table and ordered printed.

Consideration of the bill giving the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad the right of way through the territory of the Choctaw nation was resumed. Further consideration of the bill was deferred until to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. Hill the Colorado bill, admitting free from duty articles for the mining exhibition at Denver in 1883, was taken up and passed.

The following nominations were sent to the senate yesterday and considered in executive session:

John J. Platt, of Ohio, for consul at Cork; D. B. Searies, United States attorney of Minnesota; Benjamin T. Simpson, United States marshal of Kansas.

HOUSE.

The committee on territories re-committed the Alaska bill to a subcommittee, with orders to prepare a bill for a simple government and no delegate. They also authorized the chairman to give passage to the Dakota bill under suspension of the rules on the third Monday in April.

The house committee on elections adopted a report in favor of Lynch and against Chalmers in the Shoe String district of Mississippi.

The house spent the entire afternoon on the army bill, discussing the paragraphs transferring quartermasters' claims to the court of claims and retiring army officers at 62 years of age, but arrived at no conclusion, except to amend so as to allow officers to retire at 35 years' service, if they desire.

The president sent a letter from Frelinghuysen regarding American citizens in the British prisons. It says that negotiations have been going on for months between the two governments, and that on the 22d of March only three American citizens remained in prison in Ireland. Since that date O'Connell, Hunt, Walsh, Dalton and White, imprisoned in England, have been released. Negotiations are still going on to release the remainder, and are likely to be successful.

Adjourned at 4:54 p. m.

HOW THE DOSE WAS TAKEN.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The veto of the Chinese bill is the sole topic to-night. Politicians are divided as to the effect. It is concluded that the bill will not pass over the veto. The democrats think it will rebound to their benefit. The Pacific delegation has been disappointed and are almost sure that a republican point of view, but doubts not that California will take the matter in her own hands and keep the Chinese away.

Farley says the democrats of California can stand it if the republicans of the whole country can. Bayard will vote to sustain the bill, also Beck, Pendleton and nearly all the democrats. Beck says the bill is killed, and he does not suppose anything can be done. Jones says the president puts himself in a silly light in suggesting any form of bill that would suit him. The republicans generally are satisfied, except Miller, of California, and Hill, of Colorado. Jones, of Nevada, is not here. Miller, of New York, Sawyer and Vale, of the seven republicans who voted for the bill, will now vote to sustain the veto. Pacheco, of California, said he very much regretted the matter, as it would cause great agitation on the Pacific coast and injure business and upset things in general. Rosecrans said he supposed they would have to stand it, but it was pretty tough. It was the deathblow politically to those bringing it about. Hewitt said he presumed it would be passed with a ten years clause instead of twenty. It would hardly pass the house over the veto, even if it did pass the senate, and there was no disposition to push in this matter. Moore, of Tennessee, who opposed the bill, had doubts even of its passage with the ten years clause. Carpenter, of Iowa, who opposed the bill, did not believe it would injure the party, for no party could be injured permanently by refusing to do wrong. George, of Oregon, thought it was a dangerous blow to the republicans; it was an injustice to the Pacific coast and the people of that section. Willis, of Kentucky, a champion of the bill, says it insures the Pacific coast to the democrats. Robinson, of Massachusetts, was satisfied with the veto, and was sure it would not hurt the party prospects. No party could afford to do a wrong act for effect. Williams, of Wisconsin, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, was pleased with the veto, and, while he would oppose the bill with even a five or ten years clause, he presumed that such a bill would pass. If the Chinese were to be excluded, he thought it should be by treaty to that effect, by which China would keep her subjects at home. Page, of California, refused to express himself on the subject. Kasson thought this the only construction a thinking man could reach. He thought the ten years bill would pass with a change in the passport system.

WASHINGTON WIRINGS.

National Associated Press. Scoville is sick, being used up by overwork. He expects to have to argue the Guiteau case. Guiteau has his book ready to print.

The Mason case was considered in the cabinet to-day. Lincoln approves Sen. Swan's decision. No final action will be taken until the supreme court proceedings are concluded.

The benefit for Mrs. Mason to-day netted $300. The fund now amounts to nearly $4,000.

The redemption of bonds when business closed to-day amounted, under the 106th call, to $9,687,950; 106th call, $18,415,350; 107th call, $15,569,800.

Admiral Bache, writing from Coquimbó, Chili, February 25th, reports an interview with Trescott, and that he left the Alaska for Prescott to return home.

Secretary New attributes the success of the democrats in the Indiana elections entirely to prohibitory measures, which were opposed by the democrats. The republicans did not make the issue of liquor question, but the democrats added it on their own.

In regard to the statement that a proposition had been made by New York and Boston bankers to replace the outstanding government 3 1/2 per cent. bonds now payable at the option of the government, with an issue of $200,000,000 of legal tender notes, bearing 2 per cent. interest, which the national banks may count among their assets, Folger says the bankers recently submitted such a proposition to him, but the subject has not been considered in the cabinet.

AFTER FOSTER'S SCALP.

LONDON, April 4.—At a meeting of the reform club last evening the majority adopted an address to Gladstone asking him to remove Foster, secretary for Ireland, and to initiate the Irish coercion policy.

AMERICAN STAMPS GO.

In the house of commons to-night Postmaster General Fawcett stated that he had refused to discontinue the mail service which had hitherto been offered by having the stamps which carry American mail stop at Queenstown. This service, which practically amounted to the saving of a day's time, would be continued. Sir Charles Dilke, under the secretary of state for foreign affairs, stated that he would consent to produce the official correspondence between England and America regarding Dr. Lamson.

FRESH OUTBREAKS AGAINST THE JEWS.

A dispatch to St. Petersburg from Kiev reports that great excitement exists there, and fresh outbreaks against the Jews are imminent.

The students of the university assembled there yesterday, armed with revolvers, and marched in a body to the prison in which their comrades arrested during the recent disturbances are confined. They clamorously demanded a release of the prisoners, and they would have forced an entrance into the jail, had the military not presented a bold front. It is well known, however, that the troops sympathized with the mob, and fears are entertained that if the disorders continue they may refuse to act against their frenzied co-religionists.

The conflicting reports about Gen. Skobelev's future movements are settled by his going to his estate at Riazan. The current belief here now is that he will remain there until the storm has blown over, when he will return to share the czar's council. That he has been ordered to Turkestan is discredited.

TERrible DISASTER.

The latest dispatch from Coruna, Spain, says that forty-six persons lost their lives by a collision between the steamship Douro and the steamer Truroc Bat, off Cape Finistere.

HEARD FROM.

LONDON, April 4.—In the house of commons to-night Gladstone, in reply to an inquiry, said that communications between the United States and British governments continue to be passed, but he deemed it inadvisable at the present time to state the substance of the correspondence.

MADRID, April 4.—The Spanish senate to-day passed a vote of confidence in the government that it would maintain order in Catalonia. Shops and manufactories remain closed throughout the province.

LONDON, April 5.—It is reported that Mr. Chamberlain, president of the board of trade, and Sir Charles Dilke, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, will withdraw from the ministry on account of the opposition extension of the coercion policy of the government.

Important Railroad Change.

National Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—The Pennsylvania railroad company have determined since the resignation of D. W. Caldwell, general manager of the company's lines west of Pittsburg, to divide that system into two departments. Of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad and contributing lines a department is made called the Northwest. William Baldwin is appointed manager of the Pennsylvania and contributing lines. James MacCreary, superintendent of the New York division, is made manager. This is called the Southwest department. President Roberts last night denied emphatically the report that he will resign on May 1st the presidency of the road. He says there is no difference between the board and himself.

JENNIE CRAMER'S MURDER.

National Associated Press.

How the Indicted Parties Pleaded "Not Guilty."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 4.—Contrary to official announcement, Walter and James Malley, Jr., and Blanche Douglas were brought from the county jail to-day to plead before the April term of the superior court on the charge that they killed Jennie Cramer by administering arsenic. Walter pleaded "Not guilty." Walter very calmly, but James and Blanche in a very nervous manner. The boys met Blanche in the court room for the first time since last August, but she spoke to neither of them.

The preliminary business of the court is less than was expected, and the trial may begin next Tuesday. To avoid a crowd in the court room the newspaper reporters were informed yesterday that the prisoners need not be expected in court to-day. The boys came from the jail in a hack, and Blanche was driven to the court by Jailer Stevens in a private carriage. They took a circuitous route in order not to attract attention.

LINCOLN LAOCINOS.

ELECTION DAY IN THE CAPITAL CITY.

Correspondence of The Omaha Bee.

LINCOLN, April 4.—The city election to-day is exciting an unusual amount of interest in this place of mammoth majorities and one-sided political contests. Bands of music are perambulating the streets and crowds of voters surround the three polling places. The chances, of course, favor the election of the straight republican ticket, by a respectable majority. The coalitionists expect to defeat Gaiman, the regular nominee for alderman in the First Ward, and elect Shaberg in his stead. It is also within the limit of possibilities that Gen. Montgomery may defeat Ben Cobb for police judge. The latter is young and inexperienced, having just been admitted to the bar.

The chances for the success of the anti would be greatly increased if there were only some means of shutting Elder Miller off. His loud-mouthed advocacy of the ticket will cost them a hundred votes.

The weather is very favorable for election purposes, a hard rain last night having laid the dust completely. Yesterday was certainly one of the meanest days that ever dawned upon this place. The dust blew around in dense clouds from morning till night, making it at times impossible to see across the street.

The governor is as non-committal as ever on the subject of an extra session. Notwithstanding his serious protestations of innocence on the score of further political ambition, there is no question in the mind of any close observer here that he wants to go to congress this winter, and that if he dared to resist the overwhelming popular sentiment in favor of a meeting of the legislature he would gladly do so.

Patrick, the Seward county wife murderer, was captured yesterday morning about twenty miles south of Seward, and is now in jail pending examination.

United States court opens to-day, and a number of Omaha attorneys are on hand to attend to their cases. It is not expected that court will last over a week, as there is nothing of importance coming up.

ABRUS.

Telegraphic Twinklings.

Dave Hitter, a watchman in Lebanon, Pa., aged sixty-four, was found dead in an alley near Yost's brewery, his face battered and froth at the mouth. The circumstances are suspicious. He was insured for $30,000 in favor of other parties.

A fire Monday afternoon destroyed the Basseler Iron works near Troppen, Austria. Loss heavy.

The workmen of Barcelona, Spain, threaten to renew their riots. Large crowds opposed to the financial policy of the government paraded the streets, but nothing disorderly occurred. Shops were all closed and business entirely suspended.

TEXAS DIVERSITY.

National Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Tex., April 4.—A man named Williams went home drunk, fell upon a Dutchman named Schunaberger, and, without provocation, stabbed him three times, each stab reaching to the lungs, and then shot at him, the ball grazing the top of his head. He then commenced preparations to leave, but the strong Dutchman said "nix" when he gathered a pistol, jumped upon his horse, and told them to stand from under. Three shots were fired at his retreating form. It is believed with effect, but nothing definite has been learned.

A SEWARD SLAYER.

National Associated Press.

Dick Patrick Kills His Wife and Escapes.

Correspondence of The Bee.

SEWARD, April 2.—A terrible murder was committed last evening by a Mr. Patrick, seven miles northeast of Seward. The victim was his wife, with whom there has existed a very unharmonious feeling ever since they were known in this county. They were in town yesterday in company with a married son, and, according to the latter, quarreled before reaching home. The son left them at their house and went to his place, one-quarter of a mile further on, when he was attracted by his little sister running to the field, where another brother was plowing. Before he could get to the scene his mother lay a corpse, the ball entering the heart and producing death instantly.

Meanwhile the young man had reached the house from the field and was about to enter his revolver, it seemed to be the intention of the sons to kill their father should he ever injure their mother, which they feared he would do. However, before he came down, his older brother had come up and fired one barrel of his shot gun at the old man, causing him to retreat into the house, where several shots were fired between them, one killing the horse the son had ridden.

Hearing his other son coming down the stairs he fired two shots through the doors, neither taking effect. As the older son had only his shot gun, he could do no more and started off. The authorities were notified, and the sheriff with a party started out, but up to a late hour nothing was heard of the fugitive.

LATER.—It was reported he had come to the Park House about three o'clock a. m., slept the remainder of the night, got his breakfast and walked leisurely off.

MONDAY MORNING.—Nothing has been heard of him up to this time.

Expected Indian Uprising.

LEAVENWORTH, April 4.—The fort is considerably excited over the rumor that the Cheyennes and Arapahos are threatening an outbreak near Fort Reno. The Indians number two thousand. The grievance is that they have been put on half rations of beef, and that the proposed branch of the Atlantic & Pacific road will destroy their hunting ground. Major Randall has eight companies of troops on the ground, but think them inadequate to suppress a general uprising.

Great Flood in Minnesota.

National Associated Press.

FARGO, Dak., April 4.—A dispatch from Glendwin, Minn., says that washouts, several miles in extent, have occurred on the Manitoba line. Northward travel is stopped for a time. No passenger train runs either way. There is quite a concentration of people here housed, going north, for whom hotel accommodations are very inadequate. Sixty car loads of stock en route for Manitoba, are in the same fix. It is bad to stop, but worse to go on. The weather is turning colder, which will check the prairie floods. The track between Brockton and Crookston is under water for the whole distance.

A TREASURE TROVE

Unearthed While Making an Excavation for a Sewer.

A Genuine Bonanza Struck by "Chicken Hagarty" Yesterday.

The joy that permeated the frame of Edward Dantes when he uncovered the wealth of gold and glittering gems on the barren isle of Monte Cristo, or that swelled in the bosom of Con Oregan when he turned up the wonderful treasures while digging a grave for a miner in the gold region of Guayaquil, must have been a combination of feelings similar to those which surged through the breast of Mr. John E. Hagarty when he hoisted his eyes on a crock full of gold, silver and paper money which was found on his premises yesterday. Mr. Hagarty is an old resident of St. Louis, and drives a good business in poultry and game at No. 944 Broadway under the firm name of Hagarty & Son. His residence is at No. 944 Collins street, and has been for the past seventeen years. The house in which he lives is an old one, and in the days when it was a mansion with white walls and clean appearance it was the home of Montgomery Blair.

MR. BLAIR BUILT THE HOUSE, and previous to his departure from St. Louis, sold it to Samuel Gaty, Esq., from whom Mr. Hagarty purchased it in 1865.

Yesterday morning at half-past 11 o'clock two men employed by Mr. Hagarty, named Daniel Shields and Thomas Higgins, while digging a trench in which to run a sewer-pipe from an outhouse to the Collins street sewer, on Hagarty's lot, struck their spades against something very solid. Shields stooped down and removed the clay to find the dimensions of the obstacle met with. The obstacle proved to be a stone jar or crock, similar to what is termed a "litter crock," and with the aid of his companion and the power of curiosity, he unearthed the vessel, which proved to be decidedly heavy and tested the strength of the men. Calling to the inmates of the house they proceeded to open the mysterious receptacle, which was thickly sealed with wax. The cover was finally torn off and its removal revealed to what they had only seen before in fairy-story books, a veritable pot of gold and silver. They inserted their hands into the blazoned metal and pulled out whole handfuls of gold and silver coin. They rang them, bit them, tested them in every way, looked at the dates, and when they found it was really good money they actually cried out for joy. Just then Hagarty appeared and took possession. He brought the crock and the coin into the house, brightened up the time colored walls and turned the whole treasure out into a wash-tub. This revealed to his gaze a small amount of Continental scrip, which was down in the coin. The gold and silver and paper were separated. The paper amounted to about $200, the silver, mostly in dollars, with a few half-dollar pieces, was in such a quantity as to completely conceal the bottom of the wash-tub, and the gold coin was in even GREATER BULK THAN THE SILVER.

Mrs. Hagarty put the gold into a dish-pan, which filled out one-half the space in the pan. The gold consisted mostly of English sovereigns. Nothing less than a sovereign was found among the gold coin. How much it all amounts to has not yet been ascertained. Mr. Hagarty immediately held a love feast, and gave out coins freely as mementoes to his friends, and during the course of the day purchased a house and lot on Broadway of Marcus A. Wolf for seven thousand dollars.

A Republican reporter last night about 11 o'clock, in company with another newspaper man, called on Mr. Hagarty at his residence. He was in bed at the time, but willingly arose and gave the reporters a cordial greeting. He was
